Who were those masked men?

Ham Radio operators Farrell Pitts, Don Parrish, and John Scott used specially designed antennas and radio directional-finding (RDF) equipment to zero in on SCARS' low-power hidden radio transmitter (aka the "Fox"). Fellow SCARS member Jim Richardson hid the transmitter and tended the Fox.

The Saturday morning Fox Hunt is a monthly club tradition and outdoor event sponsored by Sun City's Amateur Radio Society (SCARS). The hunt is designed to hone members' radio operation, mapping and signal-tracking skills.

Team members are Suheil Baaklini, David Dupree, Larry Parsons, Steve Read, Harry Tran, Todd Williams, Sandy Arico, Mary Anne Clement, Kathi Dunbaugh, Marta Hotz, Brenda Latta, Jan Pierpoint and Nancy Sutton.

Hiking Club – Ron Yeck

Ron Yeck was recently awarded Hiking Club pins for his Marathon and Looper recognition. Ron has remained a loyal and dedicated club member despite a serious auto accident in April 2018. After setbacks during the past two years, Ron hopes to resume hikes in the near future. We look forward to welcoming Ron back on the trails!

Sun City Amateur Radio Society's (SCARS) October Fox Hunt

Ham Radio operator N5MU Jim Richardson zeroed in on SCARS' low-power radio transmitter (aka the "Fox"), hidden near the outskirts of Sun City, four miles from the hunt's starting point. SCARS' Saturday Morning Fox Hunt is a monthly event sponsored by Sun City's chartered ham radio club. Each month's winner hides the "Fox" transmitter somewhere inside Sun City for next month's hunt.
