Please note: New advanced MS Excel classes are being added to our education program in the first three months of this year. If you are interested in Excel beyond the basics, please read the class descriptions on the Training page at http:// www.sctxcompclub.org to be sure that you meet the prerequisite requirements. We recommend taking these classes in the order that they are scheduled. If you have questions about the class content, or your experience level, please contact the instructor. Class registration will be limited to six students the first time each of these classes is offered. If you try to register and find that the class you chose is already full, please reply to this email so that demand for the class can be determined.
