THE SECRET TO A LONG LIFE IS BOCCE

- NY Times 11/17/17

Discovered By Dick Billows.

The Bocce Club has formed a Special Interest Group called "The Bocce Lifestyle" to use the talents and creativity of our club members to expand and enhance our enjoyment. We are assembling the people and talent to offer several lifestyle programs starting in January 2020 with more to come. You can help lead this effort right now. Just call Dick Billows at 502 354 7401 and talk with him about how you'd like to contribute your talents to help build a better Bocce Lifestyle for all our members.

It will be so good we will need club members to eat it!

Here are three programs Planned for the first quarter.

We are going to create a Bocce Cooking Club using the cooking talent of our members. There will be cooking classes to learn new recipes and techniques. We'll cover all the steps in a different delicious dish each month. The cooking committee will select the recipes, plan the shopping list and cook the meal. Bocce Cooking Club members can attend in person, watch a streaming video on their PC at home or watch the video at a later date. It will be so good we will need club members to eat it! If you want to help run the Bocce Cooking Club and join the committee, call Dick Billows at 502 354 7401

We also have many members who have years of experience eating Italian and Mediterranean food. We will use their experience to coordinate a Bocce Restaurant Tour. Each month our restaurant committee will select a local eatery, negotiate a group deal and schedule a Bocce gathering. We will assemble at a local restaurant to sample their Italian/Mediterranean cuisine and wine cellar. They will also arrange for the chef to share a few cooking tips during the meal. Members can carpool or just follow driving directions to arrive at the appointed time. If you want to help run the Bocce Restaurant Tour call Dick Billows at 502 354 7401.

We will also offer a free service to let all our members know where other members are gathering each weekend. Where will the Bocce Land? is an information service for each weekend that will tell you what concerts, restaurants, bars, comedy works, movies and other events your fellow members plan to attend and that you can join. It's always nice to walk into a venue and run into your Bocce Buddies.

If you want to help run this service call Dick Billows at 502 354 7401.

We'll be developing additional programs like making videos and video story telling in the first quarter. Stay tuned.

Chuck Fath and Dale Mitchell were the finalists in the Men's Championship and, again in a toughly fought match, which went into overtime, Chuck Fath prevailed. The club championship was played between Anna Ruth and Chuck Fath. In an overtime victory, Anna won the Sun City Bocce Club Corn Hole Tournament with a score of 30 to 28. Club embroidered hand towels were presented to the top 3 Places –1st Place, Anna Ruth; 2nd Place, Chuck Fath, and; 3rd place, Dale Mitchel. The Club Members had a great time at the Annual BBQ.

ASK AI

Bocce's own AI award winning bocce robot

Hey, AI

Our club owns an early robot made from a Roomba. It plays great, and can't be beat on angle shots. Between shots it cleans the court. We like it but some teams say it's delaying play. What should we do. Signed: Clean Up Play

Dear Clean Up Play,

There's an upgrade for your Roomba that can make straight shots as accurate as the bank shots. The more robot play you have the less dirty your courts will be. Human players generate litter and sound pollution. That's my robot perspective, sorry.

Hey, AI

My grandmother said when she played in 2019 all the balls were made from the same material. Do you think it's better now with shape shifter and mind controlled balls.

Signed: Retro Baller

Dear Retro Baller

No doubt those special purpose balls, plus low friction and impact absorbing balls have changed the game. I think the biggest impact however is the variable distance shifting ruler. When used properly, scores improve dramatically for amateurs.

We're now printing The Sun City Sun newspaper on reshapable foil, After printing more than 200 years on recycled paper first recycled from real trees in 2019, we've moved to the latest and greatest -foil you can reshape after reading. Use this printed foil to make cooking vessels, toys, and foil hats for use as sun protection. We don't recommend using it for anti-alien protection - it only makes them mad. If you'd like to squeeze the ink out, separate the colors and return vessels to our mid-town office during the business hour.
