

WHO WE SERVE

Good Neighbors GTX exists to support children of low-income and in-crisis families in the Georgetown, TX area. We do this by providing the basic necessities of clothing and essential living items FREE of charge.

Currently we are serving the children of single moms in low-income and public housing apartments. Going forward we will expand into serving all families in low-income and public housing apartments.

HOW WE SERVE

Our families are referred to us by the managers of low-income apartment communities, the Housing Authority, and the Mommie Support Network. We serve our families on a one-on-one basis. Many of our families do not have transportation so we go to them. In the future, we plan to go into apartment communities with a mobile “boutique” to distribute clothing for the children. Basic clothing includes new underwear, socks, shoes and coats for winter. We also provide new or like-new clothes that have been donated sizes newborns through High School. For our in-crisis families we use funds donated to provide immediate help which is specifically tailored to their need. We have provided formula, diapers, pull-ups, shoes, clothing, bedding, and living items as required to meet the immediate need.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

As you know, inflation is affecting us all. The families we serve are especially vulnerable as providing for their families has become increasingly more difficult. You can help alleviate some of the financial burden on these families by providing basics like new underwear, socks, shoes and winter coats. We also need new and like-new clothing for kids sizes newborn years through High School. HEB, Walmart or monetary donations are also very helpful when meeting the specific needs of our in-crisis families.

As a growing organization we will soon outgrow our current storage facility and are seeking a partner to provide a larger storage unit
